Wheat is said to be fine on Shannon.

W. J. Ranson, aged 60, died Thursday at Paris.

Mrs. Anderson Finch has been quite ill at her home at Mayslick.

Miss Christine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W.
S. Yaffell of Sutton street has typhoid fever.

Twenty-five hundred dollars will be expended in remodeling and improving the Shannon Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borgoyne have purchased the handsome and commodious Diner dwelling in East Second street, Fifth Ward, now occupied by Mr. John Welsh and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stagwald of Cincinnati are visiting their venerable aunt, Mrs. Jane Blanchard of East Second street, Fifth Ward. Mrs.
Blanchard is one of Maysville's oldest and respected citizens, having recently celebrated her 82 birthday anniversary.

It may appear a little incongruous, especially during these sweltering days when everybody is panting for breath, but it is true nevertheless. Tuesday the copula at the Maysville Foundry and Machine Works in East Second street "froze" up and work in that department was suspended for a day in consequence. Fact.

The Academy of Medicine met last evening at the Council Chamber, Dr. Harover in the chair. There was an exceptionally full attendance. Present: Drs. Samuel, Ellis, Adamsen, Pickett, Reed, Browning, Harover, Yazelli, Smoot, Taylor and Cooper. Lectures by Drs. Reed, Cooper and Harover. Next meeting
Thursday evening, 25th.

STEWART INQUEST

Unfolds Disgusting Condition of Immorality in Maysville

More to Follow and Its Up to Officials to End It

The Coroner, County Attorney and Sheriff are trying their best to unravel the mystery surrounding the death of Leo Stewart, the young colored man, found dead in a pool of water opposite the ice factory last Sunday morning and whether their efforts in that direction prove successful or otherwise, they will have done much in opening the eyes of the public to a state of affairs little dreamed of in a civilized community.

The inquest has taken up parts of two days and about twenty witnesses have been examined so far and the end is not yet. Another session will be held today.

During the examination evidence has been brought out of such a salacious character that no paper would dare print it.

If the truth has been told, those implicated should not be permitted to live in a decent community and the extreme penalties of the law should be meted out to them.

That portion of the city in which the accuse of the crime is said to be located should receive a thorough cleaning out and legal disinfectants judiciously administered.

The officers are to be commended for following up the case in the persistent manner in which they have, and they should continue in so doing until all of the dirty and dastardly deeds are uncovered and the nest of filth and degradation wiped out of existence.

RIPE PINEAPPLES Only 15c Each.
FINE TOMATOES Cheaper and Better.

DEMOCRATS high in the councils of the party in Kentucky continue to declare that the Democratic machine in this state is rotten to the core. As Governor CRAPPS BECKHAM is the machine boss, the aspersions are mainly directed against him.

In addition to what the Democratic Court of Appeals "opined" in the celebrated and infamous Louisville election cases, and the recent charge of Judge PARKER that Democratic Fayette county was one of the most lawless sections of the entire country, now comes Judge STERLING B. TONEY, former Judge of the Chancery Court of Jefferson County, who has the following to say in The Denver Post of political conditions in Louisville:

"I would as soon steal a Republican's pocket-book as to steal his office. One is as criminal as the other."

"I am a Kentucky Democrat, but the Democratic machine in that state is as corrupt as the Democratic machine in this state or any other state."

"That machine and all other machines of all political parties should be put out of business."

This is a pretty severe arraignment and should cause the good people of the old Commonwealth to put on their thinking caps.

The conditions will continue as long as the Democratic machine rules at Frankfort.

"Quite safe, sir. She got out among the first."

"And my daughters—are they all right?"

"All right, sir. They're with the mother."

"There was a pause. Then:

"And what about my mother-in-law, James?"

"That, sir," said the footman suavely, "was what I wished to speak to you about, sir, particularly. Your mother-in-law is lying asleep in the third story back, and knowin' your regard for her comfort, sir, I wasn't sure whether I ought to disturb her or not, sir."

CYNTHY ANN GOES DRY

By 47 Majority—Exciting Times in the City—County Goes Dry by Large Vote

Yesterday's local option election in Cynthiana and Harrison county resulted in the "wets" being routed in both contests, the majority for the "drys" in the city being 47, while Harrison county rolled up a vote of over 1,500 against liquor.

All fifteen of the county precincts were carried by the "drys."

Sixty days ago in an election held in Cynthiana the "wets" carried the city by 34.

To the surprise of all the election passed off quietly and without trouble. A most active part was taken by the women and children of the city assisted by a large number from the country in the afternoon.

From 2 o'clock until the polls closed one thousand women and children stationed themselves at the Fourth Ward voting booth pleading with the voters and trying to induce the workers of the "wet" cause to desist in their efforts.

A large number of people from Paris, Maysville and other Bluegrass towns were present.

Very little attention was paid to the contest in the country precincts and it was conceded the county would go dry, but as Cynthiana is a city of the fourth class it is a unit by itself.

When the polls closed it was estimated that two thousand people were on the streets waiting for the result to be announced.

HE HELD THE TRAIN

But How or Why He Could Not Explain

One of the limited trains was all of half an hour late in leaving Washington for its warm weatherward run to the south one night last week, and some of the second-splitters in the lowers had begun to make remarks about the people who wouldn't keep their cows at home, before there was any getaway racket from the choo-choo. But it's a wonder the train left at all. There was a great man at the station that night, and the train was held for him, though he didn't take it after all. This was the way of it.

On that particular evening a local newspaper man who hadn't traveled much since the I. C. C. got the legislative hypodermic, went down to the station to meet his home-bound spouse who'd been doing some family visiting up near Smokeville. Her train was due at 6:19, but his watch was dizzy, and he landed at the main gate an easy half hour ahead of time.

"Leave me hurdle the barrier," he suggested mildly to the blue back of the fat gateman. "My wife is coming home, and I want to wait by the parallels and give her the grand clutch as soon as she alights from Mrs. Pullman's little wagon."

"Nope," replied the fat gateman without turning around. "It's against the rules."

"But," suggested the newspaper man not so mildly. "I've got a notion I'm going out there, and—"

But he didn't have time to finish, for the gateman fixed his face for a real crushing look and swung around. A second later that gateman's best friends wouldn't have known him. He got red in the face, then white, then red again, lifted his lid, bowed and swung the gate open so fast its hinges smoked, remarking, with a sickly grin: "You will have your little joke, sir."

The newspaper man drifted through in a hazy dream effect, and began walking up and down the platform, wondering whether he wouldn't better go back and hand the fat gateman one on the nose for his real fresh, funny actions. But he noticed that the gateman had called some more uniforms to his side, and that the bunch had their heads together, thinking in whispers and looking in his direction.

The newspaper man began to get worried. He looked himself over, discovered that he was wearing his shoes, that he hadn't forgotten his shirt, and that there were no signs hanging around his person. And he had just about decided to register a diagnosis of congenital lunacy against the crowd when one of the uniforms wobbled toward him.

"Is there anything I can do for you?" he inquired.

The newspaper man, pretty well convinced that somebody was trying to get gay with him, scowled ferociously. "Not a thing," he replied, grudgingly, whereupon the official said: "Thank you, sir," and went away looking as happy as a Boston broker on a copper holiday.

About a minute later a portly person in uniform steamed up, nodded respectfully and touched his hat.

"No. 6 is pretty nearly on time, sir," he remarked.

"Telephone that up to the office," said the newspaper man, shortly. "It's worth an extra edition any day."

And at that particular moment he began to feel light in the head. For the effect of that little pleasanter on the station master was something fearful to behold. He curled up and laughed and uncurred and laughed some more. And after he was all through laughing he went trotting around the station telling that remark to all the uniforms in sight, and the train shed was certainly a real hilarious place for awhile.

But five minutes later the uniformed person steamed back, looking pestered in the head, and did another lowly approach.

"Beg pardon, sir," he said, "but when I saw you come in I wired down, and there's a drawing-room on six being saved for you."

"That's mighty thoughtful," replied the newspaper man, and the person did another departure, purring, as contentedly as a Maltese cat.

Then No. 6 steamed in, and for the next 20 or 25 minutes the newspaper man got drier every second. Every attaché of the station had their lamps glued on him all the time, and he began to feel as prominent as J. Diggum Rockefeller and John Alexander Dowle rolled into one. But the air was full of tension. Seventeen people in uniform stood around looking as if they'd like to suggest something if they dared, and finally one of them drifted up looking trembly about the chin, and gave a preliminary cough:

"Beg pardon, sir; excuse me for mentioning it, and I'm sorry to disturb you," he said at length, "but we've held No. 6 20 minutes for you, and if you could come now, sir, we—"

"I guess I won't go to-night," said the newspaper man, suppressing with difficulty a wild desire to hit some one with a baggage truck, and the man in uniform, after opening and closing his mouth half a dozen times in the manner of a dying shad, managed to pull the get-away signal, and the limited pulled out. Then the newspaper man met his wife and went home, studying the initials in his card case and wondering if he'd better see a doctor in the morning. And ever since he's been wondering and pestering and trying to figure out whether everybody at the station was crazy that night.

HUMANE OFFICER

Wanted in Maysville—Unwarranted Beating of Dumb Animals Should Stop

If ever the presence of an officer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was needed it certainly was yesterday afternoon, during the unwarranted slashing and whipping of a young horse by a merciless rider as he galloped up and down Third street.

If the horse responded to the whip by trotting a lively gait, then the would-be trainer lashed the harder in order to check up its speed.

The poor animal was in for it whether it was a walk, trot or gallop.

If the fellow had received a portion of the strokes upon his own bare back he would have gotten about what was due him.

There is a spirit of resentment in a horse similar to that of a human being, and it knows perfectly well when treated in a cruel and harsh manner.

A real horseman seldom, if ever, applies the whip to compel obedience to his commands; he succeeds by pursuing gentle and persuasive tactics.

Remember the old but truthful proverb, "you can drive a horse to water, but you can't make him drink."

A good stiff fine would probably cure some of those fellows who think it smart and want to show off by whipping horses in an uncalled for manner.

LIFE INSURANCE

Business of the Companies in Kentucky the Past Year

The thirty-six legal reserve life insurance companies doing business in Kentucky according to a report just made by State Commissioner of Insurance Prewitt, collected during the year of 1906, $7,913,429.63 in premiums. They paid in death losses $3,199,899.50.

On December 31st, 1906, they had in force in Kentucky policies to the amount of $237,176,230; 131,625 policies were cancelled during the year, leaving in force 500,372 policies.

With a view of making Louisville the central market point of the tobacco trade of the country, the Directors of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company have made a proposition to the National Tobacco Growers Association to the effect that it would sell the Association 51% of its common stock at the rate of $70 per share. The tobacco growers were given until October 1st to investigate the proposition thoroughly before accepting it.

CHILD ALMOST A SOLID SORE

From Skin Disease from Birth Until Six Years Old—Father Spent Fortune on Her Without Benefit—Old Doctor Suggested Cuticura, which Cured Her in Two Months, Leaving

SKIN SOFT AS A BABY'S AND WITHOUT A SCAR

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. G. suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost in a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed with them two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. That is where I became acquainted with Cuticura. I hope this may be of some service to you in the future. Mrs. W. P. Ingie, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Maysville Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching, With distressing urinary disorders, Daily existence is but a struggle. No need to keep it up. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. Maysville people endorse this claim: Mrs. Mary Thomas, 204 Limestone street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I am only too pleased to confirm the statement I made in the spring of 1906 recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, after they had relieved me of backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. During the years that have elapsed since I made that statement I have had occasion to give Doan's Kidney Pills a further trial and I have found that it requires only a few doses to ward off attacks of kidney trouble. I can also point to the case of my boy, twelve years old, who at the time I first used Doan's Kidney Pills was troubled a great deal with weakness of the kidneys and could not control the secretions properly. I gave him Doan's Kidney Pills and he improved rapidly under their use. The relief he found has proved lasting and from his experience and mine I am certainly warranted in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box; Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take a other.
